At last night's meeting of the select council, Mayor Bailey sent a communi-cation appointing P. J. McCann, Hon. after the glacial epoch, and Niagara J. A. Scranton and A. P. Bedford a board of park commissioners for a term of five years from Sept. 1 to succeed Col. E. H. Ripple, Thomas Moore and P. J. McCann. Mr. Manley wanted may safely be estimated at 50,000 years to have the appointments confirmed forthwith, but the proposition was defeated by the following vote:

Yeas-Chittenden, Manley, Fellows, Mc-Andrew, Sanderson, Kearney, Durr, Ross, Finn-9. Nays-Thomas, Roche, Wagner, Burns Schroeder, Frable, Coyne-7.

It required a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules and confirm the ap-pointments forthwith. The following bids for the construction of the Cherry street sewer, between Stone and Prospect avenues, were read and referred the sewers and drains committee: Flanaghan & O'Hora, 85 cents per lin-eal foot; V. BAD SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

A communication was received from the board of health calling attention to the sewerage system of Scranton street and the bad sanitary condition of that part of the Fourth ward bounded by Lafayette and Swetland streets. The filthy condition of Forest and Breck courts, between Linden and Spruce streets, was also complained of. The resolution settling the claim of Michael Reap, of Providence, for $600 was amended to read that the amount should be for damages up to date, and was referred to the city solicitor. A common council resolution extending the time allowed the Columbia Construction company for completing the paying of Mulberry street was referred to the paving committee. A resolution directing that money due Contractor Peter Mulligan be held by the city until certain laborers employed by him are paid was approved. It came over from common council. A common council resolution awarding the contract for building the Farber court lateral sewer to P. J. Thornton & Co. was concurred in, as was a resolution providing for the purchase and removal of a frame building on the casterly side of Bromley avenue.

An ordinance allowing the property owners of Lackawanna avenue, between Washington and Jefferson avenues, to enter into a private contract for the paving of that portion of the street passed on first and second readings. RESOLUTIONS

They Endorse McKinley's Administhe State Legislature .- S. B. Robinson and Richard Edwards Named as Alternates -- Names of the Delegates Who Attended the Convention. The delegates from the several districts of the wards which comprise the First Legislative district convened in Co-operative hall yesterday afternoon to elect two delegates to represent the district at Harrisburg. The state convention occurs there Thursday, Aug. 26. Previous to the hour of convening, little groups of the delegates gathered here and there on the sidewalks and their conversation seemed to indicate that the convention would be harmonious and short. So it proved. Promptly at 4 o'clock the assembled delegates were called to order by Chairman Dr. W. A. Paine, with John H. Reynolds and Price Thomas acting as secretaries. The districts were called and each delegate presented his credentials. There existed no contests in any district. While the credentials posed of Marshall Preston, chairman; Thomas H. Davies, Charles Lowry, Alamanza Porter and William C. Beaumont was appointed to present resolu-

The roll of delegates being complete, permanent organization was effected by making the temporary organization permanent. The committee on resolutions then reported through Chairman Preston. The resolutions were as fol-

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, That we, the delegates to the First legislative district here assembled, do heartily endorse the McKinley admin istration, and the splendid work of the Re-publican congress in the enactment of the Dingley tariff measure, thus estab-lishing confidence in business and indus-trial circles and guaranteeing prosperity to the American receile.

We heartily commend Representative
Farr for his earnest and effective work for the people. We endorse the eight-hour bill introduced by him and now a law, as in line with progress. We congratulate him on his success in getting a second appropriation for the West Side hospital, thus assuring its existence and continuing the great good that it has al-

The above resolutions were immediately adopted. Nominations were now in order for delegates to the state convention. Hon, John H. Fellows was recognized, and placed the name of James A. Evans, ex-school controller of the Fourth ward, in nomination. His remarks were brief. H. C. Hatton, of the North Scranton section, was nominated and nominations closed. Election by acclamation resulted, It had been expected that Attorney W. R. Lewis and Thomas H. Davies would also be placed in nomination, but harmony was the word, and so it remained.

THE ALTERNATES. S. B. Robinson, H. T. Fellows and Reese A. Phillips were named as alternates, Mr. Fellows' name was withdrawn and Messrs. Robinson and Phillips were chosen by acclamation. "I move we adjourn," quoth a delegate. "Second the motion," said an-

SIDE CONTACT TROLLEY.

System Designed to Dispense With Many Poles and Wires. From the Providence Journal.

While all who have an eye for beauty condemn, or at least criticise the ordinary overhead construction of electric trolley lines, the trolley railroad people themselves are aware of the drawback constituted by its high cost and the necessity for a virtual duplication of the work where a double track is installed. To aid in overcoming the objections to overhead contration, the Dingley Tariff Bill and struction for electric railroads as customarily installed, John C. Henry, of Denver, Col., has devised a form of construction which meets the opposi tion half way by dispensing with onehalf of the poles and wires commonly used. His scheme comprehends a sys tem of double track electric railway with the cars traveling in opposite directions and making contact against the sides of a single trolley wire which in this case is suspended between the double tracks from span wires at the usual height. The poles instead of being located opposite each other, are staggered and occupy diagonal posi-tions on opposite sides of the street, so that one-half of the number ordinarily used may be dispensed with and the strain on the remainder greatly reduced.

In the construction the span wire strain is exerted in two directions on each pole, namely, laterally and in a line parallel with the track, the latter component being comparatively small. With poles spaced 200 feet apart on opposite sides of the street, 50 feet between the curbs, the lateral strain on the pole is only one-half as much as the pull at right angles thereto (paralwere being handled, a committee com- lel with the track), and the lateral pull is a balanced one. The fact that but one trolley wire is used for both tracks is also a relief to the poles. Each car in place of the present long trolley pole would carry a fixed vertical arm or mast rising from the roof from which collecting arms mounted on the top of this upright will swing out on either side far enough to engage side contact with the conductor wire. Cars on adjoining tracks use different vertical sides of the common central wire.

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING.

The nurse bent over himes he showed some signs of returning consciousness. His legs were broken, but these discov-eries were not all made at once. When he finally learned how badly he was hurt he still seemed to have some hope left, but his expression was indeed piteous as he faintly asked:

"Is the bloycle broken, too?"
"Alas, it is," answered the nurse, for she dared not lie to him. He turned his face toward the wall.

"Why struggle longer against fate?" he said. "Discharge the doctor and send for an undertaker."—Chicago Post.
